A Humble Person 😊

Friends, you must have noticed — a humble person never says, “I know everything.”

Because they know that life itself is the greatest teacher.

When a person remains humble, their mind stays open —open to new ideas, new ways, and new learning.

Ego stops a person,but humility keeps propelling them forward.

A humble person learns from mistakes,turns criticism into an opportunity,and stays ready to learn something from every individual —whether that person is younger or older, big or small.

One thing worth remembering is this:The more humble a person is, the more they grow.The day learning stops, growth also stops.A humble person always has space for learning — because they have the courage to accept their own limitations.

The one who remains humble keeps learning from life continuously and moves forward with peace. □

Come, let’s make a resolve:“I will stay humble, I will keep learning, and every day I will become a slightly better version of myself.” □□
